Social Studies Homework: Week of September 24 – September 28

Why would location A be a good place to live?

Why would location A be a bad place to live?

Why would location D be a good place to live?

Why would location D be a bad place to live?

Why would location B be a good place to live?

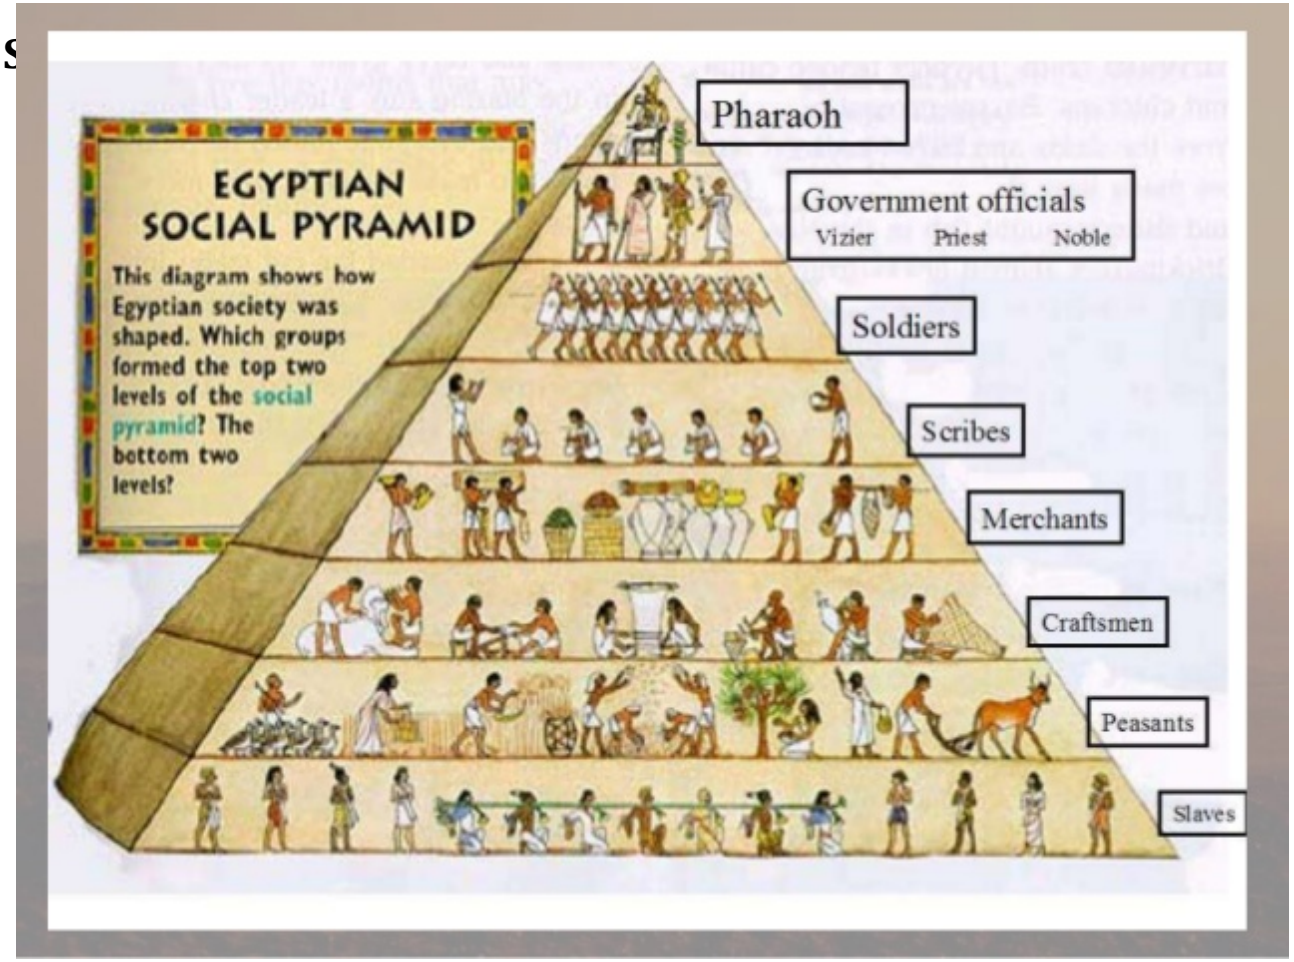
Why would location B be a bad place to live?

Where would you choose to settle?

Why would location C be a good place to live?

Why would location C be a bad place to live?

Evaluate the advantages and disadvantages of living in certain locations. For each location (A,B,C,D) tell why it would be a good place to start a civilization and why it would not be. Think about each location in terms of the following: Access to water, ability to grow food, transportation for trade, protection from other civilizations, and the ability to rule over the area.



In class, you learned about the creation of social classes and a social hierarchy. Above is an example of Egypt's social structure. After looking at the image, respond to the following: Do you think class structure and social class is good for society? Why or why not? Is it possible to change your social class? How can you do this? Why do you think it's important for people to be aware of the existence of social classes?
